Yes, you do look the part...

On paper, that is. But take a moment now to consider your personal image.

If you (or your business team) could use an extra dash of style to get through more doors and into the right circles, First Impressions is well placed to help.

We're one of Australia's top image consultancies and corporate-skills coaches, and our track record spans a range of industries. Headed by sought-after stylist Evelyn Lundström, our savvy team will have you projecting the part within hours, or after a day.

We'll show you the five simple steps to style success.

- Tap into your psyche to re-establish who you are
- De-clutter your wardrobe
- Dress right for your body type
- Add flair to stand out in a sea of black
- Invest in the right wardrobe pieces – your most visible overhead

You'll leave with an effective set of presentation skills, not a dull list of fashion do's and don'ts. We'll have you in confident control of your long-term sphere of image and influence – and loving it.
